On the 22d of January, 1840, Mr. Buchanan addressed an argument to the U.S. Senate, of which he was a member, which among other things he said:

"In Germany, where currency is purely metalic the cost of everything is REDUCED TO A HARD MONEY STANDARD, piece of broadcloth can be manufactured for fifty dollars, the manfuscture of which in our country, from the expansion of paper currency, would cost one kundred dollars. HAND TO BE SOUTH OF THE PARTY O

I would to heaven that I could arouse the attention of every manufacturer of the nation to the subject. What is the reason that, with all those advantages and with the protective duties' which our laws afford to the domestic manufacture of cotton, we cannot obtain exclusive possession of the home market, and successfully contend for the markets of the world? It is simply because we manufac-ture at the nominal prices of our own inflated currency, and are compelled to sell at the OUR NOMINAL TO THE REAL STAN-DARD OF PRICES THROUGHOUT THE WORLD, AND YOU COVER OUR COUNTRY WITH BLESSINGS AND BENEFITS.

The comparative Low PRICES of France and Germany have offered such a stimulus to their manufacturers that they are now rapidly extending themselves, and would obtain possession, in no small degree, even of the English home market, if it were not for their protecting duties.

Labor is the chief element of cost in manufacturing, from the making of watchsprings up to locomotives. The price of raw material is of small comparative come

The next day Mr. Merrick, of Maryland, made a scarching exhibit of the ruinous influence upon the workingmen of the United States, of the adoption of the polley which Mr. Buchanan had so strengly urged.
